

MASTERS AND SPECIALISTS PROGRAMS

ONLINE PROGRAMS

Adapted Physical Education, M.S.

This online program is designed for physical education teachers who want to successfully include children with disabilities into their general physical education classes and ensure that all children, with and without disabilities, maximize learning in physical education.

Coaching Education, M.S.

This online program is ideal for current coaches, those aspiring to be a coach and others who work with individuals in physical performance settings. You will select a concentration in Athletic Coaching or Mental Performance Coaching.

Education Administration, M.Ed. and Ed.S.

These online programs are designed for certified educators interested in becoming school principals and district administrators. The M.Ed. leads to the SC principal certification, while the Ed.S. leads to SC superintendent certification. These programs focus on the theoretical and practical aspects of the principalship and district administration necessary to advance into leadership positions.

Language and Literacy, M.Ed.

This online program prepares you to become a specialized literacy professional. Upon completion, you will have met the current South Carolina requirements for add-on certification as a Literacy Teacher, Literacy Coach, and with one additional course, Literacy Specialist.

Learning Design and Technologies, M.Ed.

This online program is designed to help you develop capabilities essential to the analysis, design, development, implementation, and evaluation of effective technology-based learning.

Teaching, M.Ed

This online program is for practicing educators who wish to enhance their professional teaching practice or seek career advancement. You will specialize in Multicultural Contexts in Education, Literacy and Reading, Project-Based Learning, or STEAM Education. The Literacy and Reading specialization meets course requirements for the SC Read to Succeed literacy endorsements. The project-based learning (PBL) specialization meets the course requirements for SC PBL add-on endorsement. The STEAM education specialization meets the course requirements for SC STEAM add-on endorsement.

ON-CAMPUS PROGRAMS

Applied Behavior Analysis, M.Ed.

This program focuses on the use of applied behavior analysis to help children and adults become more independent in home, school, and community settings. The program includes the courses and practicum necessary to take the exam for Board Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA) certification.

Counselor Education, Ed.S.

The School Counseling concentration prepares you to work in K-12 educational settings as a counselor of diverse students and their families. In the Marriage, Couples & Family concentration, you will receive specialized instruction and clinical experience in responding to the therapeutic needs of individuals, couples, parents and families. The Clinical Mental Health concentration will provide you with the knowledge and skills to counsel individuals and groups, implement clinical treatment modalities, and use evidence-based practices.

YOUR CHOICE PROGRAMS

Educational Psychology and Research, M.Ed.

This program is designed to build your research skills, including critical reading of research, use of statistical techniques, and the construction, selection and interpretation of cognitive tests. You may choose to complete this program either online or in-person on campus.

Higher Education and Student Affairs, M.Ed.

This program is designed to prepare professionals for successful careers in a variety of administrative roles at colleges and universities. Those selecting the Student Affairs Administration concentration will have a fully face-to-face experience on campus in Columbia, SC. While those selecting the Higher Education Leadership concentration will complete the program 100% online.

Special Education, M.Ed.

Designed for certified teachers seeking to gain additional expertise in special education. You will select one of two concentrations: Multi-categorical or Severe and Multiple Disabilities. The Multi-categorical concentration is 100% online. The Severe and Multiple Disabilities concentration utilizes a hybrid online and in-person format.

For more information, or if you are ready to apply to one of these University of South Carolina programs, visit: sc.edu/education/study

College of Education
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA